UNIVERSITY OF IOWA CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL DIVISION OF PEDIATRIC HEMATOLOGY/ONCOLOGY SUBSPECIALTY TRAINING PROGRAM

Iowa

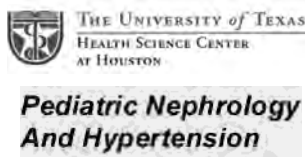

Our program's purpose is to provide excellent clinical and research training in pediatric hematology/oncology. We are fully accredited by the ACGME. We serve a population over 1.5 million, which provides great diversity. The first year of the three-year program provides extensive clinical exposure to all aspects of pediatric hematology/oncology. Trainees gain experience in outpatient, inpatient, bone marrow transplant, and continuity clinic settings. Trainees diagnose and treat a variety of diseases including hematology and solid tumor malignancies, hemoglobinopathies, hemophilia, thromboses, anemias and thrombocytopenia. Trainees are also educators with responsibility to teach residents and medical students. Experience is gained in the important areas of radiation oncology, cytogenetics, hematopathology, special hematology, and transfusion medicine.

Second and third year trainees (with an available optional 4th year) work closely with a mentor of their choosing in a related research project. Our program is funded by the University of Iowa Dance Marathon (clinical year) and four NIH T32 Training grants. We are a designated hemophilia treatment center, a member of the Children's Oncology Group, and a Lysosomal Storage Disorders Center. With a faculty of seven pediatric hematologists/oncologists, a large academic research center and an educational, not service, philosophy, we provide an excellent opportunity for your training.

Please visit our website, <http://www.uihealthcare.com/depts/med/pediatrics/index.html>, for further information and application forms.

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS MEDICAL SCHOOL AT HOUSTON

Houston, TX

Residents come join the pediatric nephrology training program at the University of Texas Medical School at Houston. Our goal is to train outstanding pediatricians for a career in academic pediatric nephrology. This will include acquisition of clinical skills required to treat infants and children with renal disorders, hypertension, fluid and electrolyte abnormalities, as well as the care of children with end stage renal disease. The division has well established programs in both chronic dialysis and renal transplantation.

The Pediatric Nephrology Training Program at the University of Texas Medical School at Houston offers broadly based clinical, basic science and epidemiology research training. Options include a 3 year Pediatric Nephrology Fellowship or a 4 year combined Internal Medicine-Pediatric Nephrology Fellowship program. We also offer advanced training focused in the areas epidemiology and immunology. The epidemiology training includes options for Masters of Public Health degree through the School of Public Health or a Masters in Clinical Investigation. Basic science research training in the immunology of renal disease is available through divisional research labs at the Brown Foundation Institute of Molecular Medicine. Basic research opportunities in the areas of stem cell biology, genetics and biologic applications of nanotechnology are also available through the IMM. The multiple training tracts provide a wealth of educational, mentoring and research opportunities for fellows with diverse career interests.

We are now accepting applications for 2010 onwards. For more information please visit our website at <http://ped1.med.uth.tmc.edu/nephrology2/division.htm>

UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT, COLLEGE OF MEDICINE

Burlington, VT

Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine Fellowship Program

The Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine Fellowship Program of the University of Vermont College of Medicine is an integrated part of the Pediatric Residency Training Program at Fletcher Allen Health Care in Burlington, Vermont. The Program provides comprehensive training in Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine; graduates are well prepared for either academic or clinical practice. The Program is certified by the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME); successful completion leads to qualification for subspecialty certification in Neonatal Perinatal Medicine.

The Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine Program has positions for two Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine Fellows. Prospective candidates are encouraged to apply during their second year of pediatric residency. The Fellowship Director, with the aid of the Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine Faculty, selects from the completed applications those candidates who will be offered an interview. Criteria for acceptance into the NPM Fellowship program are:

- Successful completion of an ACGME-accredited pediatric residency program (consideration will also be given to outstanding candidates who have completed pediatric residency programs outside of the United States)
- A commitment to pursue a career in academic or clinical neonatology
- Excellence in the clinical care of children
- Strong potential for success in clinical research

Thank you for considering the Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine Program at Fletcher Allen Health Care/University of Vermont.

Feedback from Attendees at Past CareerMD Career Fairs

"I am glad to have been part of the career fair in New York. It was a great venue for me to get in contact with future opportunities. I think it was a well-organized and well-planned event."

"As a first-year fellow who did not actively seek opportunities outside academia during residency, this event was an excellent way to meet with individuals in the community and introduce myself more to the possibility of practice outside of the university setting. I thought it was a good size event (not too many or too few people to talk with), and that the individuals I met with were quite knowl- edgeable about the situation in their community (even beyond their own institutions)."

"The Career Fair was very helpful in my search for an Addiction Psychiatry position. I was able to network, get tips on geographical locations and current hospitals of interest."

"Just wanted to thank you for the great job fair that you and CareerMD.com organized here in Boston. I found excellent opportunities and information from all the employers. Thanks a lot!"

"Thanks for organizing the career fair. I enjoyed it and I got to meet a lot of prospective employ- ers - I have contacted two since that time. Space was well-distributed, and I also appreciate that you sent out a list of which hospitals were looking for which spots, so I could read in advance and focus my search."

"Thank you for the invitation to the excellently planned and well-run recruitment fair. The experience was more than I had ever expected. I spent a lot of time with the recruiters in Family Practice and I was able to establish a network and introduce myself to these people. I also met many folks of Hospitalists groups and mingled with them also."
