In the rural community of Libby, the Center for Asbestos Related Disease (CARD) has emerged as a national center of excellence in addressing health care and research associated with Libby amphibole asbestos. CARD is a non-profit clinic created in response to the nation’s first Public Health Emergency ever declared by EPA.

Clinical care of patients with environmental exposure to Libby amphibole allows a depth of understanding of asbestos disease, over the course of individual progression and across generations. This unique perspective translates into informed research opportunities, increasing the chance of developing meaningful therapeutic intervention. To facilitate research CARD maintains key relationships with research affiliates including Mount Sinai School of Medicine, Idaho State University, and others. Projects have included research on biomarkers, childhood exposures, radiographic disease progression, mechanisms of disease, and psychosocial responses.

In addition to advancing the science of ARD through academic research relationships, providers maintain a part-time clinical schedule managing advanced asbestos disease as well as supporting a national asbestos health screening program. Two medical providers and a team of twenty staff members provide holistic patient care, including counseling service, respiratory therapy case management, community outreach and education.

CARD is an outpatient clinic, open to patients Monday through Thursday, with no call requirements, serving an expanding patient population of 4,500. Our location on the beautiful Kootenai River, amongst mountainous wilderness, makes this opportunity a surprising combination of academic stimulation, rewarding patient care, and personal quality of life for those who enjoy outdoor recreational opportunities.

Health Essentials was founded in 1996 as a post-acute physician network. We are the leader in post-acute, long-term and hospice care for the Southern California market. Headquartered in beautiful Santa Ana, California, and with openings throughout southern California, Health Essentials has excellent clinical opportunities for Physician and Nursing professionals to join our growing team!

Senior Medical Officer

The Senior Medical Officer provides clinical leadership, managerial oversight, and clinical program development for our medical group, GeriNet Medical Associates. The SMO is accountable for clinical outcomes, employee engagement, professional development of the clinical team, and state-wide business development and client relationships.

Regional Medical Director

Our Regional Medical Director oversees patient care, staff development, and client relationships in the region. The RMD will be devoted approximately 75% to clinical care, including direct patient care as well as the clinical development of physicians and mid-level providers in the region.

Attending Physician

Our Attending Physicians care for post-acute in nursing homes. Working in partnership with our Nurse Practitioners and supportive care team (MAs, RNs), our Attending Physicians provide and coordinate the highest quality care for our patients and their families.

Health Essentials is a full-service organization that has been providing care to the frail and elderly population in California, Arizona and Nevada since 1996. Our family of companies includes a physician-led medical group, three Medicare-certified and CHAP-accredited hospices, pharmacy services and a durable medical equipment (DME) provider. By offering all services under one organization, Health Essentials provides its partners and patients with a complete approach to care that is well-coordinated. Our unique care model allows our healthcare professionals to focus on what matters most: providing physical, emotional and spiritual comfort and care to our patient.

For complete job descriptions on these exciting career opportunities, please visit our Career Center at www.healthessentials.com, or submit a current resume along with salary requirements to resume@healthessentials.com.

Health Essentials is proud to be an Equal Opportunity Employer.
THE STRENGTH TO HEAL and learn lessons in courage.
